About Me

I am a Web Developer & I love to work on products that makes a quite significant positive impact on day to day lives of people.

I have experience in both Web Designing & web development. Inadditon I also love using Linux. One of my interests are learning, I always love to learn new technologies and keep improving my skills.

Other than coding I love Travelling, Fitness & helping others in the community. I am also a strong believer of Financial Independence & I have already started working on products that will make that happen.
